THE NATIONAL TREASURY. The Results of the Investigation

Washington, March 25.-The Secretary of the Treasury to-day transmitted to the House of Representatives the re-port of the committee appointed to ex-amine the office of the Treasurer. Their eport shows that a very thorough examiation of the Treasurer's affairs was made and its condition is in the most essential particulars satisfactory. The Secretary of the Treasury then proceeds to explain several deficiencies in the Treasurers' accounts, arising from the defalcations of the two clerks, Johnson and Warden, ag-gregating $40,000, and a further deficiency of $11,500 not recovered from the package of $40,000 stolen from the vision at issue about two y ago, with other discrepancies the amount of $406, arising from the committee thinks the treasurer should be relieved by act of Congress. He continies, with the exceptions mentioned and several of the last items hereinafter referred to as regretted by the Comptroller, the cash and cash assets correspond in amount to aggregate represented by the books of the office. It appears, however, nat there is a deficiency of coin as called that there is a denote by or coin as called for by the book of $658,378. This was presented by an excess in currency of $229,487, and by the deficiency before mentioned, with the exception of that arising from the distonesty of Johnson. The explanation which excuses the excess of currency and the deficiency in coin may be found in ciency in coin may be found in document No. 3, accompanying the re-port of the committee, which shows that the difference is not the result of disonesty, but erroneous classifications and estries on the books. The cash items re-ferred to as rejected by the Comptroller, are explained to consist of defaced, de-fective and partially burned notes and securities paid by interest titles, some by order of Secretary Boutwell, and some others by order of his pre-decessor, part of the funds of the box The miscellaneous contents enumerated among the assets of the office consist of several securities and notes." He sake that Congress grant relief to the Secretary by allowing these discrepancies in the accounts to be canceled. The Secretary's letter concludes as follows: "Upon the whole, the result reached by the Committee is such as to justify the expression of the opinion that the business of the Secretary has been well conducted, and that the losses in the aggregate are very insignificant compared The miscellaneous contents enumerated

This is $10,000 less than the Commissioner asked for. Every effort has been made to bring the expenditurea within the amount appropriated, by reducing the number of agents and clerks to the lowest possible point consistent with the efficient execution of the law, but now the funds are nearly exhausted.

Several bills from the same committee were then taken up and passed Mr. CHANDLER moved to lay blil on the table for the purpose of considering the bills reported from the Committee on Commerce, with the under-standing that the tariff bill be taken up at 1 o'clock to morrow.

Mr. Streman said, that as this day had been assigned for the consideration of the bill on commerce, he would not oppose the matter. Besides, he was somewhat at a loss to know what to do. There seemed to be some uncertainty throughout the country on tea and coffee, and the Senat had deliberately made up its mind to repeal the duty on tea and coffee. The best course would be to pass a bill for that purpose. It that were done, then perhaps, it would be advisable to postpor further action on the tariff until the urther action on the tariff until

Mr. Scorr said it was important that MI. SCOTT SAID IT WAS important that the coffee and tea question be settled; and asked Mr. CHANDLER to lay aside the bills of his committee informally, so that the Senate might, amend the House bill by fixing a time when it should go into op-

The speech in which Mr. Lowe presented the details of the budget, was invorably received by the House, and was greeted with cheers at the close. Mr. Lowe recommended that the duties on coffee and chicory, be reduced five percent, and that two pence on a pound be taken off of the income tax duties. If these reflections he admitted it would these reductions be admitted, it wo oblige him to lower his estimates of the total revenue. He closed with a motion for the immediate reduction of the duties
